RESCINDED BANS

Guernsey Airlines
Operated a ban on flights between London and Guernsey, but, following representations from smokers, they accepted that, as a third of the population smoke, it was only reasonable that smoking facilities should be offered.

Lauda Air
The airline operates from Austria and used to have a ban on all flights. It then offered a 'smokers bar' on its Sydney-Vienna route, which became so popular that it began to disturb other passengers. Since then they have allowed smoking on all flights.

Lufthansa
Due to public opinion they have ceased to operate their 6 month trial ban on some internal flights.

Quantas Airlines
Following a survey of passengers, they abandoned a 3 month trial ban on short-haul international flights.

Turkish Airlines
Lifted their internal flights smoking ban in 1989.
